Set up these activities 1-2 days in advance.

: small mixing bowl, water, plastic toys, salt, sp.otomy, cups.

: ice cube traymixing bowl water, 2 teaspoons flour, food

In 1979,a family of miners near Fairbanks discovered the frozen carcass of a steppe bison.

University of Alaska paleontologists excavatedhe fossilvery carefully. They washed the frozensoil around him to slowly melt away the icy son the animal was coated in a mineral turned its skin ablue color, so scientists named the bison Blue Babe.

Blue Babes a well-preserved age mummly The steppe bison is nexhibit at the UAMuseum of the North.

Radiocarbon dating showed the tue Babelived about 36,000 years agoduring the last Ice Age. Tooth markend blood underhis skin also old scientists that an American lion killed it. The frozen ground preserved clues to tell the

