

THE CHRONICLE

of Higher Education

Home Blogs The Wired Campus

Previous
— Higher-Ed Gadget

Next

Princeton U. Adopts Open-Access Policy

September 29, 2011, 2:25 pm
By Jennifer Howard

The movement to make research freely available got a high-profile boost this week with the news that Princeton University's faculty has figrabowska (change settings)

1 comment 0 likes received

Type your comment here.

Post as figrabowska

Showing 3 comments

Sort by Oldest first | Follow comments: by e-mail by RSS

Real-time updating is enabled. (Pause)

marjory_l_munson 4 hours ago initiatives everywhere. It helps me to keep current with the latest thinking and research that I cannot otherwise afford to access.

4 people liked this. Like Reply

How does one acquire a change in the publication agreement with a publisher? The contract I sign when an article goes to press seems to have a clause that states that I do not own any of the